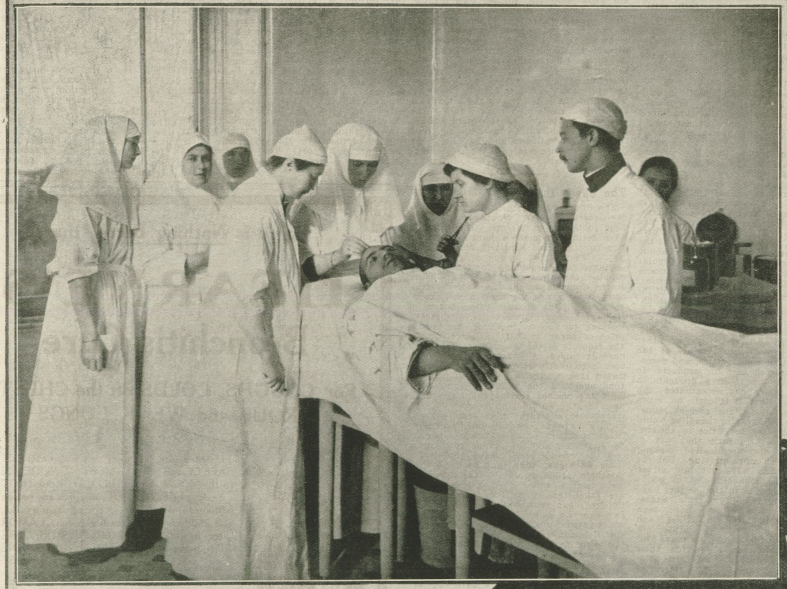
FROM THE BATTLE GROUNDS



THE TSARITZA AND HER DAUGHTERS NURSE WOUNDED RUSSIAN OFFICERS.

This striking photograph was taken at the Imperial hospital for wounded officers at Tsarkoe-selo. The Tsaritza is standing at the head of the patient. On the extreme left is the Grand Duchess Tatiana, (second daughter of the Tsar), the third figure from the left (in background), is the Grand Duchess Olga.

AFTER NEUVE CHAPELLE

Wonderful as was the heroism of the British Troops at Neuve Chapelle, the village recaptured by us from the Germans, the victory was made possible only by the massing of 350 guns, which spoke at once on a front of barely 2,000 yards.

Our picture shows the ruins of the villiage of Neuve Chapelle after the terrible bombardment by the British, giving a wonderful idea of the havoc wrought by modern artillery.
